SAFETY

In case of emergency, we have a 24-hour hotline during the summer. If there's an emergency at home or on your child's trip, HXP base will get you in touch quickly. We are in constant communication with all of our Trip Leaders throughout their trips, but we filter communication so they can focus first and foremost on running trips and connecting with their Builders.

For minor medical concerns (constipation, diarrhea, headache, etc.), Trip leaders will be in contact with the HXP medical team. For major medical concerns (including trips to local clinics/hospitals), HXP will be in contact with parents & guardians.

Our HXP medical team is a huge piece of the puzzle when it comes to extra precautions we take to keep Builder safe. In addition to 24/7 availability over the summer, the HXP medical team comes to the three-day Trip Leader training, where Trip Leaders are prepared for common travel health occurrences dehydration, motion sickness, and diarrhea. Regardless of the hour of day and severity of the question, the HXP medical team is quick to answer, patient beyond measure, and confident in his advice on how to best move forward.

PROJECT

Our unapologetic mission is to change lives through service—by that we mean the lives of Builders, as well as the lives of those we serve. Over the years, we’ve found that this is a symbiotic relationship; unless our project is truly sustainable and has long-term impact for good in the community, it does not have the life-changing effect on Builders that we promise.

This vision has helped us design a 360 degree rubric that we now use as the Humanitarian XP standard for sustainability to evaluate our economic, environmental, social/cultural, and political footprint. This rubric was originally designed by a group of MPA students at Brigham Young University and has undergone many iterations since then.

Our focus at Humanitarian XP has always been love—developing real relationships with the people we interact with and with one another. At first glance, that can be perceived as self-serving. However, the relationships developed on trips turn into real friendships that are mutually supportive, and through social media, often last indefinitely. We hope to constantly improve as we continue learn more about the needs of the people we love. As humans, and as Christians, we believe that is all we can ask one another.

LETTERS HOME

Halfway through the trip—typically Sunday—all builders write a handwritten note home. Trip Leaders will take pictures of the letter and email it to you. This is a great opportunity for them to talk about the trip and what they've learned, and you'll be blown away by their growth and perspective shift in such a short period of time.

PACKING

One of the best parts of HXP trips is learning to love a new culture. Builders can show gratitude and appreciation for the people that so generously welcome us into their lives is by respecting their culture. This can be done in a variety of ways.

Builders can show respect by the clothing they wear. Some countries have traditional clothing that they share with us, and Builders can show appreciation by honoring this clothing and wearing it appropriately. Other places have different standards of what appropriate dress means, and we can honor the country and culture by dressing according to this more modest standard.

HXP Pro-tip:

‘UNPACK WITH YOUR BUILDER’

This is the perfect opportunity to get to know all the little details of your Builder’s trip!
